"In Vino Ventus"

CREATION

The god of the East (or sometimes Southeast) wind, Apeliotes, brought refreshing rain beneficial to farmers and is often depicted carrying fruit and grain, dressed in rubber boots and always wearing a friendly expression.

The second vintage of Apeliotes is very special as it is the first wine ever grown and produced from our winery containing Malbec. The first fruit received from a clone planted in 2011 adds an exciting element that we've never before experienced in a blend and has us anxiously awaiting the opportunity to work with more than just one single barrel in the future.

Aromas of blueberry, cedar, pepper, tobacco, and red currant with hints of bay leaf and caramel provided by a blend of 50% Cabernet Sauvignon, 37% Petit Verdot and 13% Malbec lead to a well-integrated wine aged in all new oak for ten months; resulting in flavors of blackberry, black pepper, black tea and toasty oak, with soft tannins, and a smooth mouthfeel.
